School Official Says Poor Tots Eat More Than Wealthy

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—The child of the poor is stronger than the child of the rich.

Dr. Mary E. Baird, health supervisor, declared in a report on Evanston schools that the majority of under-nourished children were from the homes of wealthy parents.

"In schools where the majority of the children were from homes of the affluent, the percentage of under-nourishment ran as high as 23 per cent," the report said.

"In schools attended by poor pupils, the percentage was much less."

Soviet-Turkish Plans for Dardanelles Attacked by Delegate

DEMANDS PASSAGE FOR U. S. SHIPS

British Seek to Ban Fortifications by Nationalist Forces

LAUSANNE, Dec. 6.—Ambassador Richard Washburn Child, America's observing delegate at the Near Eastern conference, arose this morning upon the assembling of the delegates and declared that America wishes the right to send warships anywhere it desired. He therefore demanded complete freedom of the Dardanelles, both for merchant ships and war vessels.

They followed these tactics thirty years ago, on the federal elections bill, and they announce them now on the anti-lynching bill.

They do not believe in lynching, and they may not have believed in election frauds then. But they are determined absolutely to resist without limit, and by any method whatever, legitimate or illegitimate, any attempt to make these federal instead of state questions—even when, as in the case of the congressional elections, the constitution expressly makes them so.

Men who will resist without limit and regardless of consequences cannot be overcome by mere majorities, whether by congress or of the people. They will submit only to force—physical force—and the other side has never been desperate enough to use that as ruthlessly as they were prepared to resist it.

PHARISEE'S PRAYER—The commonest expression of thanksgiving, on our national fast day, was the Pharisee's prayer. We thanked God that we were not as other nations.

The occasion of gladness, certainly; of thankfulness, perhaps.

But why to God?

Who made Him the special tutelary partisan of America, as against the rival gods of other tribes? If he made us fat with turkey, who made Russia hungry for bread?

When, during the war, Germans "thanked God" for the murder of French, and French for the murder of Germans, it was not to God that their prayers were addressed.

It was to Thor and Odin, rival champions in their ethnic theogonies, for whose worship they had deposed God. Why should we similarly annex God and render to His name the offerings which we really mean for Mammon, in the no less ruthless rivalries of peace?

Zeus, perhaps, or Artemis and Athene, might so take sides in their patronage of hostile Greek cities. But not God. If He has preserved us, amid the universal wreck, it is not by our merit, nor for our sole advantage.

Let us, therefore, rather bow in humble acknowledgment of the great responsibility that is laid on us. Because unto us much is given, from us much shall be required. If the penalties of the crimes of men have mostly passed us by, and if the largest part of their load has fallen to our share, it is that we serve as the nucleus for the reorganization of what was once the civilized world. Our first duty, to be sure, is to maintain that nucleus intact, by preserving our own order and prosperity. But if we limit ourselves to that, we shall have proved unworthy of our trust.

PLANS CAMPAIGN FOR 'AIRTIGHT' SABBATH

RAILROADS—According to Herbert Hoover, who is a man of figures and should know, high as the cost of government is, the losses from car shortage are still more. The things that we produce and cannot sell because the railroads cannot carry them would more than pay our taxes.

Similarly, no doubt, the railroads, if they could carry the business they could get, could make a profit and pay dividends. Then they could get the money to equip themselves to do the business which that equipment would enable them to do, and which, in its turn, would get them the equipment. It is all in a circle—the circle starts nowhere and rotates backward.

Which means, of course, that the railroad problem is literally the biggest thing in America. Solve it, and you solve everything else.

Hoover's solution is the one contemplated by the present transportation act, on which the interstate commerce commission is now engaged. Consolidate the railroads of the country into a few great regional systems, which can eliminate the wastages of competition while retaining its stimulus to service, and which can absorb the weak, losing roads as profit-bringing feeders of the strong ones.

URGES SUPPORT FOR SCHOOL BOND VOTE

"If we do not continue to vote bonds for school houses and other city improvements J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools, and the Chamber of Commerce had just as well go out of business."

That was one of a number of direct-to-the-point statements made by J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, in an address at the meeting of the Kiwanis club at St. Ann's Inn at noon.

Metzgar spoke for ten minutes on Santa Ana of the present and the future. His talk on bonds was an incident of remarks urging support for the school bond issues to be voted next Saturday.

"Santa Ana should not be a happenstance—the city should be developed under plans directed for the best future of the city, for it is to become one of the greatest cities of the Southwest," Metzgar said. He suggested the appointment of a planning commission or adoption of some scheme by which future growth and development would be worked out on a scheduled program.

Harbor Great Asset

He said Orange County Harbor is one of the greatest assets of the city and predicted the location of industries that would provide employment for thousands of workers.

He pointed to the deposits in city banks of approximately $13,000,000 as an evidence that local people are not ready to invest their money in unknown and venturesome manufacturing processes.

Metzgar urged support of the city charter when it comes up for ratification by the voters, declaring that it is essential to the future progress of the community. Speaking of the possibility of Santa Ana becoming a convention city, he said that one of the needs is a hotel with 250 rooms, and predicted that such a hotel could be maintained here.

Co-Operation Necessary

"One of the biggest things for the future development of the city, is co-operation of the four communities now building a joint outfall in a plan for conserving the water of the Santa Ana river," Metzgar said.

Mayor John G. Mitchell was chairman at the gathering. A vocal solo by Leon Eckles and club singing were features in addition to the address by Metzgar. The club will not meet Wednesday of next week, but will have a ladies' night meeting at St. Ann's Inn Thursday night.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE PLACED ON ROLLER LOCATION CHANGED

Wandering, shifting like the sands of time, the Orange county sheriff's office today had no foundation in fact of theory whereupon to rest its bulk.

The much moved structure was being ousted from the location which it had occupied for the past year, and was bound, slowly, for its new home on the east side of Sycamore street.

When Sheriff C. E. Jackson and his deputies arrived at work this morning, it was necessary to throw out scouts to locate the structure. It's very foundation removed, the building rested on planks and rollers, prepared for its journey across the street.

The office was moved to make way for the new hall of records which will replace it.

Once before the office was removed,—then from the east to the west side of the street.

"Yoush office is suah the movin'-est dawgonesh sheriff's office Ah evah seen," remarked a colored trusty as he watched the proceedings.

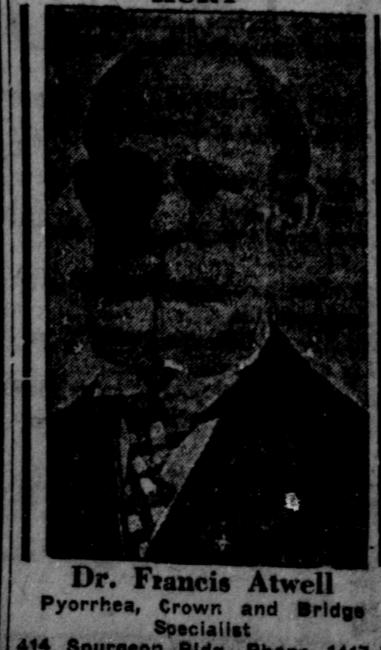

THREE-ACT PLAY AT JUNIOR H. S. PLEASES

"Atonement," a three-act play, written by Herbert Thomas, author of "Under Orders," for Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wells, was presented by the couple at the junior high school here last night before an appreciative audience.

The dramatic values of the play were well interpreted by Mr. and Mrs. Wells, and the production was successfully guided to its climax in the hour consumed by the three acts.

The play was preceded by a musical prelude. The evening's program was the second of the ten numbers to be presented at the junior high school in the winter series of musical and dramatic events.

A Guide to What's Good to Get

SOME one has said that if bread and butter were new inventions they would have to be advertised before people would accept them as standard articles of food.

Even in this progressive age, folks are somewhat wary of leaving the beaten path. They stick pretty close to the things they know, when those things come up to their expectations.

That is why alert merchants and manufacturers strive to tell about their products and their services in the advertising columns of the daily paper. They want you to know what they have to offer, in the belief that when you do know, you will be interested, and perhaps inspired, with some of their own enthusiasm.

Thrifty men and women find that it pays to read the advertisements. It enables them to rest assured that they are not overlooking anything. It lets them know where to locate some desired product or service; where to go for "this" or how to get "that" to best advantage. Without its direction they would overlook much and consequently lose much. They would live in ignorance of many things that might add materially to their wealth, health and happiness. Make advertising your guide to what's good to eat.

HAMMER WOMAN ELUDES BIG DRAGNET

Clara's escape, he said, when he bought a paper.

Questions Madalynne.

Other clues in the investigation have yielded little to explain the escape.

Traeger questioned Madalynne Oberchain, who was released from the cell next to Clara's on the eve of the jail break, but Madalynne satisfied him that she was not connected with the escape.

The sheriff today was to go over the entire evidence surrounding the escape. Jail inmates as well as officials were to be questioned again.

Peggy Caffee, who has been living in Long Beach under the name of Mrs. Gladson, was found late yesterday, deputy sheriffs revealed.

Mrs. Caffee, in a great state of nervous excitement, made the sensational declaration that she thought she had seen Clara Phillips on the street in Long Beach at noon yesterday, it was said.

Officers believe Mrs. Caffee unstrung by the terrifying knowledge of Mrs. Phillips' escape and the dread that the woman whom she saw beat another to death with a hammer, might be thirsting for revenge upon her pal who told.

Curtains Hide Bars.

Examination of the bars sawed from the cell of Mrs. Phillips again today confirmed the belief that the work has been in progress for some time, screened by the tidy little curtains that Clara used to make her cell look more attractive—and secure.

One of the bars was rusted and apparently had been held in place by application of gum after it had been sawed through.

"These indications point to a careful preparation for the escape which might have been avoided if a more efficient guard had been kept in the women's quarters," said Sheriff Traeger. "If proper inspection of Clara's cell had been made, not only the sawed bars would have been discovered, but probably the saws would have been detected unless they were used from the outside."

Another telephone call from a taxicab driver who claimed to know the hiding place of Mrs. Phillips was received today. Chief Deputy Al Manning left the sheriff's office immediately afterward, refusing to expatiate on the details of the "tip."

INCREASE BORDER GUARD TO BLOCK CLARA'S ESCAPE

CALEXICO, Calif., Dec. 6.—Deputy Sheriffs, Calexico and Mexican police as well as federal officers stationed here have kept a constant vigil at the Mexican border since word reached them that Clara Phillips had broken out of the Los Angeles jail.

Line riders have been warned and today the number of officers guarding the border was increased, in the hope that should Mrs. Phillips attempt to enter Mexico through Imperial Valley she would be apprehended.

Mexican police have assured the local officers of their co-operation. All trains entering this city from the north are searched.

SUSPECT CLARA HEADING FOR SISTER'S RANCH

TIA JUANA, Lower Calif., Dec. 6.—Accompanied by Guillermo Ybarra, experienced guide of Lower California roads, and a party of deputies under Under-Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz of Los Angeles here and headed into Mexico toward Ensenada today in search of information that will aid in the capture of Clara Phillips.

Deputy sheriffs of San Diego county have been stationed at every border gateway and Deputy Sheriff Nolan of Los Angeles is directing activities of the officers here.

Biscailluz expected to be back at the border by nightfall.

Special arrangements have been made by which it is hoped to extradite Mrs. Phillips in case she is traced to Mexico, it was believed from the attitude of Mexican officials.

If Clara enters Lower California

it was believed she would head for Ensenada where she could catch a boat for Guaymas and then go by rail to Juarez where her sister owns a ranch which was her objective in her flight immediately after the hammer murder.

Committee men of the Anaheim Masonic Lodge troop of Boy Scouts of America will meet with Victor E. Teaney, scout executive, at Anaheim tonight, and discuss the future plans of the troop. John E. McKim is scoutmaster of the troop.

Costa Mesa farm center has postponed its meeting scheduled for Friday night until a later date not yet announced. H. B. Woodrough, director at large of the Orange county farm bureau, reported today.

The evangelistic meetings at the Church of the United Brethren, corner Third and Shelton streets, are nightly growing in interest, it was stated today. A number have been converted and others have been reclaimed. The meetings will continue until Sunday evening.

EX-SUPERVISOR IS INJURED BY SCOOP

The successor to R. D. Flaherty as secretary-manager of the Orange county farm bureau probably will be chosen tomorrow when the board of directors of the bureau holds an all-day session at the bureau office here, it was stated today. Three candidates, one local, one from Berkeley and one from Montana, are understood to be up for consideration.

Flaherty's resignation will be effective January 1, when he plans to enter business in Santa Ana as an accountant. He has served as secretary-manager of the bureau for the past year.

The farm bureau tomorrow also will outline its position in regard to the proposed fair grounds and discuss other matters of interest to the 1923 fair committee, it was said. Dr. J. R. Schommer is president of the board of directors.

EX-SUPERVISOR IS INJURED BY SCOOP

The jinx that seems to have clung to the trail of H. E. Smith, 919 East Washington avenue, former county supervisor, landed again this morning and Smith is at his home suffering from severe injuries.

This morning about 9 o'clock, Smith was superintending work being done by the Orange County Engineering and Construction company, of which he is president, at Eastwood park, corner East Fourth street and Grand avenue, when he was struck by the scoop of the big concrete mixer. The blow landed on his head and chest.

At Smith's home at noon today it was stated that the severest injury seems to be in the chest. It is possible that internal injuries were received.

About twelve years ago Smith was thrown in a runaway and was badly hurt. Since then he has been injured a number of times.

Once he fell from a ladder at his home and another time his bicycle was struck by an automobile.

The cedar box measured four and one-half feet by two feet, and was heavily laden, it was said.

Introducing the burglar with the cedar chest and the Irish linen embroidery.

Or rather, sheriff's operatives to-day sought a "knockdown" to the man who last Monday night entered the home of E. L. Reeves, Anaheim, and stole a chest filled with scores of valuable and precious fabric articles, from bath towels to delicate pink intimacies.

According to report on file, the entire chest was purloined. In it were many hand embroidered scarfs, dollies, handkerchiefs, intricately and sentimentally invaluable. Nine silver spoons and a set of silver knives were listed with the loot.

COULDN'T SELL HALF DOLLARS FOR "TWO BITS" LOSES WAGER

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Jack Cohen of Manhattan was fined two dollars in the West Side court today for trying to sell 50 cent pieces for 25 cents to the 5 o'clock throng at Broadway and 49th street last night.

Cohen testified he was only endeavoring to demonstrate to a doubting Missourian that New Yorkers are not as "hard boiled" as some people say. He explained that, following an argument with William Wolf, a salesman, of St. Louis, Mo., he had entered into a contract to sell $60 worth of silver half dollars at 25 cents each in 15 minutes.

He didn't make a sale.

AVIATOR RECOVERING FROM PLANE CRASH

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—Hubert Little, amateur aviator who was injured in a stunt flight on Thanksgiving day, will live to scoff at another hairbreadth escape, it was said at the Angeles hospital today. Little had the reputation of being a daredevil and was believed fatally hurt when taken from the wreckage of his plane which collapsed.

Hugh Curley, another accident victim, who was gravely injured when with Herschel McKee, racing pilot, he went into an upset early Sunday, has an even chance for recovery, it was stated.

URGES ATTENDANCE AT POULTRY MEETS

Poultry meetings of the Orange county farm bureau and the agricultural extension service of the University of California are scheduled for tomorrow and Friday, according to W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor. He said:

"It is hoped that all poultrymen, regardless of the number of chickens they may have, will avail themselves of this opportunity of getting information firsthand by attending one of these meetings. The meetings have been distributed for your convenience."

The schedule is as follows:

Dec. 7, 10 a.m., H. B. Woodrough ranch, Costa Mesa, (near corner Twenty-first and Santa Ana streets.)

Dec. 7, 2 p.m., Perkins & Koenig ranch, El Modena, (North Prospect avenue.)

Dec. 8, 10 a.m., Carl Nichols ranch, Garden Grove, (2 miles west and $\frac{1}{4}$ mile north.)

Dec. 8, 2 p.m., G. G. Priddy ranch, Cypress, ($\frac{1}{4}$ north of oil station.)

STREET CARS, TRUCK CRASH; ALL ESCAPE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—Two Venice cars bound in opposite directions early today crashed into a truck at an intersection opposite Rosedale cemetery early today.

Both cars were derailed and the truck was demolished, but miraculously no one was injured. One of the cars continued 70 feet on the ties, but did not overturn.

APPEAL ISSUED FOR Y. W. C. A. HUT FUNDS

The building committee of the Y. W. C. A. hut, which is being erected at the high school for the use of the college and high school girls, today issued a statement in which it voiced an appeal for aid in the final campaign for funds this week.

"It is expected that tonight's entertainment will bring in a large part of the $1000 needed to complete the building sum of $6300, but the remainder will have to be made up from subscriptions," the statement said.

"The need for this building and the value which it will have for the high school and college girls as well as the business girls of the city, need scarcely be pointed out, so well appreciated are the facts connected with the project.

"Such a building will provide an adequate rest room for the girls of the school, a place for committee meetings, girls' athletic headquarters and a center for the work among the girls. Such a room or building is a necessity in a school where so many of the girls come from a long distance to school, where there is no gymnasium and where conditions looking to the best interests of the girls are the aim of all those interested in the girls.

"With less than $1000 needed to complete the building the committee realizes that the need will be cheerfully met by the citizens of Santa Ana, and is asking that subscriptions be turned in to Miss Isabel Anderson, Y. W. C. A. secretary at the Junior college, this week, and that all who can, will attend the entertainment given by the city teachers at the high school tonight.

"A number of $25, $50 and $100 subscriptions must be obtained to complete the fund and an immediate response to this appeal will be in the interest of the welfare of the girls of the city and much appreciated by those who are working to make the project a success."

Those who signed the statement were: W. R. Williams, chairman building committee; T. E. Stephenson, Miss Jennie Lasby, D. K. Hammond, F. L. Andrews, Mrs. W. B. Tedford, Miss Isabel Anderson, Mrs. H. M. Sammis, Mrs. J. Dick Wilson.

SOCIETY

Daughters of Veterans

Business affairs of the Daughters of Veterans will be administered during the coming year by a staff of officers elected at an interesting meeting yesterday afternoon in G. A. R. hall.

The personnel of the new official family is as follows: president, Mrs. Nellie Parker; vice-president, Mrs. Floss La Bounty; junior vice-president, Mrs. Harriet Leipsic; chaplain, Mrs. Kitty Smith; council members, Mrs. Emma Chapman, Miss Adda Cowan, Mrs. Sarah Brown; treasurer, Miss Edith Ward; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Lois Lantz.

Among other business matters discussed was the plan for the annual dinner to be given the Veterans on December 13 at G. A. R. hall. Plans for the canned fruit shower were also made and those wishing to donate to it were instructed to take their gifts of canned fruit or jelly to Mrs. Olive Baird, 619 Hickey street, or to the G. A. R. hall at the next meeting.

Mrs. Emma J. Edington and Mrs. Leonora Melvin were received into membership and Miss May Beamer was initiated.

Relief work reported during the month included an expenditure of twenty-seven dollars, while thirty-eight calls were made and fifteen bouquets distributed.

Members related with pleasure the enjoyments of the pot-luck supper which was held in conjunction with the Sons of Veterans at the hall on Monday night. About sixty were present to enjoy the supper and the excellent program which followed including an interesting report of the national convention at Des Moines, given by Department Commander Hawthorne.

Grace Rowley Circle

"India on the March" which has been selected as the study book for the Grace Rowley circle of the First Presbyterian church, will offer the topic for the regular meeting of the circle to follow the supper Thursday night. Miss Vanche Plumb will review the first chapter of the book. Girls of the circle are anticipating the supper which will be held at the church basement promptly at 6 o'clock, and to which all Circle members are urged to come.

French Club

Typically French in all possible characteristics was the social evening enjoyed Monday by members of the French club of the high school when they carried out the program outlined for them by their program director, Miss Edith Plavan. French games, French refreshments and unusually clever and Frenchy decorations all added their quota to the evening's pleasure which was shared by a representative number of the club members.

W. C. F. U.

The regular session of the W. C. F. U. calling together all four of the divisions of the city, will be held in the Baptist church parlor, Tuesday, December 13 at 3 p. m. Child Welfare will be the topic for the afternoon with Mrs. I. R. Hendrie in charge of the program.

WERE ONE TO FALL ASLEEP
in mid-summer and slumber peacefully right through the changing seasons, to waken suddenly on a clear December morning, I believe there would be little need of questioning or of a calendar to determine the time of year.

I believe after the first experimental stretching and yawning and rubbing one's eyes, one would say "Dear me, I mustn't lie abed so late, why this is Christmas month!"

There is something in the very air of December that spells Christmas. A magical something compounded of an added sparkle to the starry nights, the gay appearance of the shop windows, the expectant eyes of little children, the vivid bracts of the poinsettia and the general excitement prevailing. Everything seems to say "God rest you merry gentlemen! Let nothing you dismay!"

And so dismay and fear and forebodings are all lost sight of temporarily and the spirit of the Christ Child enters in the place left vacant, and lo! 'tis Christ mass!

HOW MUCH HUMAN NATURE
there is in the lines by Sara Teasdale which she calls
"FAULTS"

They came to tell your faults to me,
They named them over one by one;

I laughed aloud when they were done,

I knew them all so well before,
Oh, they were blind, too blind to see

Your faults had made me love you more.

DEAR PATCHWORK LADY:

My big brother declared there was a big difference between being satisfied and being contented and I didn't think there was. So he said "Look here, Little Sister, I'll prove my argument. I am satisfied that my best girl has been going to the movies with Jack B.—but I am not at all contented about it." I guess he won his point, don't you think so?

Young Physician
Renews Friendships
Of High School Days

Friendly associations of high school days in this city, were renewed yesterday when Dr. Land Chapman, recently of Panama, was calling on old friends here.

Dr. Chapman was a member of the 1911 graduating class of Santa Ana High school and later graduated at Occidental college after which he completed his medical course at Johns Hopkins Medical School in Baltimore. During his term at that school, Dr. Chapman and Dr. Kenneth Smiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Smiley of this city, were room-mates. Dr. Smiley is now at the Mayo Brothers in Rochester, Minn.

Dr. Chapman has been in Panama for the past several years and has an exceptionally good position in the government hospital to which he fully expected to return. However the presence of his mother in Los Angeles and the opportunity to take an excellent position with an accredited physician of that city has influenced him to remain in the states where he will be located in Los Angeles.

Bazaar Plans

Arrangements are being completed for a bazaar with cafeteria supper which the Ladies' Relief Society of the Church of Jesus Christ, Latter Day Saints, will present in G. A. R. hall Friday evening, December 8, at 6 o'clock.

Among the interesting booths will be one devoted to home-made quilts and comforts upon which the members of the society have busied themselves for many weeks past. These will be particularly attractive and will almost rival the many fancy articles and the pretty aprons to be featured in other booths. Following the cafeteria supper, a program of readings and music will be presented at 8 o'clock.

Orange County Shriners Are Delightful Hosts
Upon Occasion of Second Annual Charity Ball
Held Last Night In Ball Room at St. Ann's

Brilliant lights, fluffy chrysanthemums, beautifully gowned women and excellent music all united in making the second annual charity ball of the Orange county Shriners held last night at St. Ann's Inn, one of the most delightful functions of the winter social season.

The spacious ball-room and great lobby of the hotel were aglow with lights as the guests began to arrive, and just within the lobby were the red-jacketed Shriners of the reception committee, Messrs. Sam Jernigan, S. C. Hartman, C. C. Chapman, J. W. Newell, Stanley Chapman, Dr. C. C. Violette, Dr. L. L. Whitton, Charles D. Brown, Guy Gilbert, Dr. J. E. Paul, and P. G. Greeley. Theirs was a royal welcome and served to establish a feeling of cordiality and pleasure among the rapidly arriving guests.

For that is the supreme reason for being of the Shriners' charity ball, to give happiness to those who would otherwise know nothing but pain and woe at a time when everyone should be happy. And those who last night danced merrily and enjoyed to the utmost the hospitality of the Shriners, felt that their pleasure was keenest because it was aiding others to know joy as well. For every penny realized from the sale of tickets to the ball will be devoted to Christmas charity work in the county, and if that isn't sufficient to bring holiday cheer to the poor which "we have always with us" then the nobles of El Malakah chapter of which the Orange county Shriners are members, stand ready to add to the Christmas fund until it is sufficient to cover all needs.

"But it will be sufficient," today declared R. L. Bishay, "official Santa Claus," who stated that the country was particularly fortunate in having very little abject poverty and that the local members of the club would probably be able to cope with all financial needs which might arise.

While charity toward all was the underlying thought then, at last night's gala event, the pleasure of the moment was something long to be remembered. And to add to that pleasure was the program which had been arranged to present talent both from home and abroad.

Entertaining Features
Three soloists equally pleasing in voice and manner, were featured on the program, Daisy Austin Marsden of this city whose lovely voice gave pleasure to all as she sang "Down on the Desert" and "The Open Road," by Gertrude Ross. Mrs. Marsden was forced to respond to an encore and gave Curran's "Home, Mr. Piper!" very beautifully. Miss Mabel Wood-

C. of M. and P.T.A.
Saturday, December 9, has been named as the date for the next meeting of the executive board of the Fourth district C. of M. and P.T.A. All officers of the district, the chairman of the department and the president of each Parent Teacher association in the county form the executive board and all are expected to be present at the meeting which will be held in the north building of the Junior high school group at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Plans for Charity
For that is the supreme reason for being of the Shriners' charity ball, to give happiness to those who would otherwise know nothing but pain and woe at a time when everyone should be happy. And those who last night danced merrily and enjoyed to the utmost the hospitality of the Shriners, felt that their pleasure was keenest because it was aiding others to know joy as well. For every penny realized from the sale of tickets to the ball will be devoted to Christmas charity work in the county, and if that isn't sufficient to bring holiday cheer to the poor which "we have always with us" then the nobles of El Malakah chapter of which the Orange county Shriners are members, stand ready to add to the Christmas fund until it is sufficient to cover all needs.

Their number proved delightful and the guests signified their pleasure by recalling each of them to give added numbers. Mr. Laris sang at the recent Shrine ceremony at Orange county park, and last night added to laurels gained on that occasion, by singing Verdi's "Celeste Aida," "Questa Quella," and "La Donna e Mobile," all from Rigoletto, and "Estralito," by Acqua and "Claveitos" (Carnations) by Valverde.

OCEAN FIGURES AS 'STRANGE SALE' MADE

"Mother! mother! Look at that!"

The earnest cry came from the throat of an Oklahoman whom Carl Mock, realtor and director of the Santa Ana Realty board, had taken to the mess above Newport and given him his first view of the ocean.

"That was one of the strangest sales I ever made," said Mock today. "A man and his wife came to our office from Oklahoma."

Never Saw Ocean.

"The man told me they never had seen the ocean. I bade them enter my car and drove them to Newport—and sold them the ocean. Now they own one of Orange county's prosperous ranches."

"I remember another visitor who came here from Kansas City. I took him fishing down at Laguna. He promptly returned to Kansas City, and asked a certain girl if she would be interested in a man who intended to make his home in Southern California."

Girl Says 'Yes.'

"She said, 'Yes,' they were married, and I sold them their home here."

"It took me more than five months to make one certain sale. The man came here from the East. I showed him everything we had. Then he went to San Diego. Came back here and looked again. Made a trip into the northern part of the county, Anaheim and Fullerton, and many other places."

"At the end of five months, he said, 'Something always draws me back to Santa Ana,'—and the sale was made."

COUNTY OIL OUTPUT REACHES MILLIONS

In less than a quarter of a century the petroleum industry of Orange county has grown from a few hundred barrels produced in 1897 to the present output of over a million and a quarter barrels a month, or practically sixteen million barrels a year. The growth of the industry has been steady and substantial.

"The buyers are a judicious class," Fuller concluded. "They are men who have worked to save their money, and they are careful. Therefore, they are the best possible type of citizens."

THRIVING BREA WAS MERE FIELD IN 1910

The Brea of 1910 was a stubble field; the Brea of 1922 is a populous town of 3000 or more people. Oil worked the transformation. Thus, briefly, may one outline the history of Brea.

Brea lies northeast of Fullerton on the road to Pomona, near where Brea canyon leaves the foothills and at the upper end of the La Habra valley. The paved boulevard from Brea to Whittier is lined with citrus and walnut orchards. With nearby fields and orchards, Brea has a share in the agricultural and horticultural prosperity of the county, but those interests while important are not of great consequence when its oil activities are considered.

Scores of oil workers have their homes at Brea and do their business there. More than a score of oil companies are operating in nearby territory, which includes Brea canyon and the old field at Olinda.

MAN, YOUTH INJURED AS CAR HITS TRUCK

Juan Palamino and his small son were recovering today from minor injuries which they sustained last night when their machine collided with a truck belonging to the Waller Transportation corporation near Westminster. The lighter car was damaged.

Machines driven by H. C. Blauden and Donald Woodward were damaged when they collided near Anaheim last night, according to a report on file at the sheriff's office here today.

STEAL WATCH DOG
HASTINGS, N. Y., Dec. 6.—Spencer Hopking bought a German police dog to chase thieves off his estate. Last night the thieves came and stole the dog.

FARMER HAS CHOICE OF FERTILE SOILS

The soils of Orange county are of three classes, the residual soils, the old valley filling soils, and the recent alluvial soils.

The residual class of soils is made up of those derived from the weathering and disintegration of consolidated rocks and usually predominate in the mountainous or hilly sections. Barley and wheat are generally grown on these soils, although a small portion near Olive is planted to citrus fruits.

The second class, known as the old valley filling or coastal plain soils, is derived from relatively old unconsolidated waterland material brought down by water carriers from the weathered rocks of the ranges and mountains ages ago. These vary from sandy loams to clay loams and occupy two main positions in the county. We find splendid groves of oranges, mandarins, apricots and apples growing on these soils.

The third soil class, and the largest in the county, is that known as the recent alluvial series, which probably produce the bulk of the intensive agricultural crops of Orange county.

ACTIVITIES AND BEAUTY WORK TOGETHER

TUSTIN, Dec. 6.—Driving through the town of Tustin on the broad avenues rolling smoothly along mile after mile under the meeting boughs of walnut trees, or between eucalyptus trees that stand like sentries at attention along the main highway or beneath the swaying feathered boughs of giant pepper trees, one has little sense of the activities within the town.

It seems to be a perfect haven of rest and peace and quiet. Lovely homes are hidden in the walnut groves and glimpsed now and then, handsome structures built not so many years ago stand more boldly along the highways. Homes are being built in increasing numbers and beauty in Tustin all the year around.

Business activities are increasing since the building of a wholesale and retail bakery. A very much enlarged grape juice factory; an increased space needed for feed and grain store and added to the building; a large well stocked general merchandise store; an up-to-the-minute butcher shop and delicatessen that has the latest of storage methods installed; groceries and hardware shops so up to the minute that an electric device demonstration of peculiar interest to the housewife is about to be held; aluminum demonstrations; cleaning establishment where the clothes are given the best of care; nurseries and fumigators for plants; shoemaker; blacksmiths and garages; two churches; post office; bank and lode rooms, are nestled right in the center of the community.

And then the schools!!! The vision for the years to come as well as the joys of the present are all shown as fully present in the eyes and hearts of the people of Tustin when one sees their schools.

Quite in the center of the town is the grammar school with its spacious grounds that adjoins the handsome kindergarten and primary grades building. These buildings are constructed with much thought for comfort and practical use as school buildings and they also may be used by the people for receptions and community purposes; plays may be given in the auditorium of the grammar school with its well equipped stage and large seating capacity. Speakers are often heard here. In the primary school the rooms may be thrown into one long room for receptions and public affairs.

The Tustin Union high school building that is still in the hands of the builders for the finishing touches is to be a thing of beauty and a joy forever. The rooms for the classes are large and well lighted and ventilated and has a heating system for the colder months of the year.

Here is a stage and auditorium that would do credit to any city, not only for its size but for the splendid construction and handsome decoration of it, but it may also be used as an out-door stage for plays of the Greek tragedy type.

The athletic grounds are large and equipped with buildings that have lockers and shower baths and full attention will be given to such sports as develop the body as well as the work within the school for the minds of the youth of Tustin.

Life in Tustin is pleasant for the adult for there are clubs for groups of people and for women alone to have either social pleasure or combination of both study and social pleasantries or the uplifting work of social workers connected with national activities.

Outlying districts like Lemon Heights are having large expenditures made in roads winding about the hills and general development as shown by the handsome and costly homes that have been built out there within the last few months.

BEACH CITY IS NOW MONSTER OIL CENTER

In just two years Huntington Beach has jumped from a quiet beach town to a city of teeming interests.

Oil did it.

And while oil has brought a forest of derricks on two sides of the city, it is still a beach resort, with a fine bathing pool, a fine concrete pier, ample camping facilities, and a variety of amusements.

The discovery of oil at Huntington Beach transformed that city's realty life. Values jumped, and kept jumping. The city has built and is still building with rapidity in order to meet the increasing demands put upon its housing facilities.

Throughout Huntington Beach has kept pace with the development of its great oil field.

Hardly a week has gone by, during the past two years, without bringing new evidences that there is an extensive oil field at Huntington Beach.

Just recently the purchase of a large tract by the Amalgamated Oil company in the lowlands between Huntington Beach and Fairview mesas has given rise to the probability of the spreading of proven fields in that direction.

Drilling at Fairview has brought about indications of oil there, and a great many people are looking upon it as Orange county's next oil field.

Another encouraging prospect in oil field development is in the El Toro section, where the Nugent Oil company, in which Santa Ana capital is interested, may, any week, prove that there is oil in plenty there.

CLIMATE IS CITED AS WONDER ASSET

By J. C. WALLACE

(Secretary of the Santa Ana Realty Board and Chairman of the local Executive Committee for the Convention.)

Realtors of California, it is with their predictions seemed impossible. Some of the ideas advanced were ridiculous. But those visions, those dreams, have been realized. It has been demonstrated here that the folly of the dreamer has become the bulwark of our progress.

VISIONS GLOWING FUTURE.

Millions have been made in Orange county real estate, while he who said "I am wise" looks forth from his window across the erstwhile corn field and finds it easily built up with beautiful and comfortable homes. Reality values beyond the fondest dreams have become commonplace. Those who today regard the quotations on property as high, ten years hence will look back on the period and find that the dreamers of today were correct in their interpretation of the future. Acreage now selling at $5000 and $6000 an acre will be selling at $10,000 ten years from today, I believe.

In dollars and cents Orange county really is rated by some as high, but never as expensive. The prices are not high to those who have a vision—those who can penetrate the future.

COUNTY WONDER PLACE.

The productivity of its soil, its equable climate, the protection of its surrounding mountains, the miles of open coast, make of it not a Utopia, but simply a wonderful place in which to live, to develop, to prosper.

It is the combination of these wonderful blessings that has created the urge that has resulted in thousands settling here.

Every man, woman and child in Orange county is a booster. They are boosters because they are satisfied with conditions here and have an abiding faith in the future of the community.

VERITABLE PARADISE FOR OUTDOOR LOVERS

SANTA ANA IS THIRTY THREE MILES FROM L. A.

Lovers of God's great outdoors find in Santa Ana and vicinity a veritable paradise on earth, where they can enjoy the myriad beauties of coastline, orchard covered plain, and mountain, midway between the mountains and the sea. The city has a population of 25,000 people and is one of the most important commercial and industrial cities of Southern California. The population is increasing steadily and rapidly—splendid business and residential buildings cover a large district.

The many beautiful mountains and shore beach resorts are quickly and pleasantly reached by train, trolley and automobile. All-year weather records indicate that Santa Ana has a climate to suit the most fastidious. Its summers are ideal and its climate has justly been called "cooler in summer and warmer in winter."

SCHOOL SYSTEM HERE RANKS HIGH IN STATE

The public schools of the community forecast its intellectual achievements. Santa Ana's school system ranks high in a state famous for the excellence of its educational advantages. The Santa Ana polytechnic high school, auditorium and junior college buildings and sites represent an investment of $415,000. A large athletic park is deservedly popular with the high school faculty and students. So many nationally known athletes have received their early training here that Orange county has been aptly called "The Home of the American Athlete." The courses of study include all of those subjects obtainable in America's most modern public school system. February, 1921, the high school and junior college enrollment was 1330 students.

VOTE AGAINST BUSSES

PASADENA, Dec. 6.—A municipal bus line for the city of Pasadena was turned down by voters here yesterday 5555 voting for it and 3,930 against, two-thirds being necessary to carry. Water bonds amounting to $550,000 carried by large majorities.

The city of Los Angeles leads in number of licenses, having about one-third of the total number issued. Long Beach, Oakland, San Francisco, Pasadena and San Diego, each have more than 1000 licenses.

The state real estate department, of which State Real Estate Commissioner Edwin T. Kelser is the head, has shown a steady growth since its inception five years ago. In 1920, there were 23,869 realty licenses granted in California, and in 1921, 26,530, and with 34,393 granted in ten months, this year it is believed the grand total for 1922 will be far in excess of 35,000.

Shorts Routed When Mellon Report Bans Radical Taxation Laws

NEW YORK. Dec. 6.—Shorts were completely put to rout on the New York stock exchange today by Secretary Mellon's annual report in which he dispelled the hopes of the bears who have been banking on the prospect of radical tax legislation.

After considerable irregularity, the whole market turned strong at noon when the summary of the treasury report was made public. Studebaker led the forward movement and sharp advances were scored all through the list, especially among the standard rails, which had been weak during the morning.

The market closed higher.

SAN FRANCISCO. Dec. 6.—With apparently very little demand except in a small way, the potato market is considerably weaker in the face of heavy receipts from outside the state. Best river potatoes are offered at 70 to 85 cents cwt, but movement is very limited even at these prices.

Idaho russets and Washington potatoes are slowly selling from $1.20 to $1.35 cwt, but shipments of these potatoes are showing some accumulation. The very weak market is largely a result of over-production and for this reason little improvement can be expected for some time.

Onions also are exhibiting signs of weakness with Australian brown onions selling from $1.25 to $1.50 per cwt. at the wharf.

There is a fair demand for fancy lettuce. Best Sacramento lettuce in iced crates is selling from $2.75 to $3 per crate. A car or two of southern lettuce is also on the market and this lettuce will probably command top prices.

A large consignment of Tahiti avocados was received and offered to the trade at prices ranging from $1 to $3 per dozen.

According to word received by wholesalers approximately 300 to 350 cars of apples are still available at Watsonville in common storage. Cold storage houses are practically full and shippers expect to find an outside market for much of these apples.

Supplies light: Pineapples, plums, lemons, pears, peaches, berries, figs, motions, grapes, cabbage, beans, etc.

Supplies liberal: Bananas, apples, oranges, grapefruit, potatoes, celery,

onions, spinach, lettuce, tomatoes,

peppers, egg plant, cucumbers,

etc.

PRODUCTION OF BEACH WELLS SHOW GAINS

Huntington Beach deep drilling is the feature of the old field that is coming back fast. The production of Huntington Beach reached the surprising figure of 65,000 barrels last week and before the end of the year a production of 80,000 is predicted. The big increase is all due to the development of production in the deep sands. The Amalgamated Oil company is taking a strong lead in the deep work and has six wells 4,000 feet and deeper. On the Pearce property No. 2 is close to 4,000, No. 3 is drilling at 4,700, No. 4 has passed the 4,000 foot mark. Miley-Kirk No. 19 tops the list of deep wells with 4,000 feet of hole. This well is looking good and stands in hand to beat the world's record for deep production.

Onions are also exhibiting signs of weakness with Australian brown onions selling from $1.25 to $1.50 per cwt. at the wharf. There is a fair demand for fancy lettuce. Best Sacramento lettuce in iced crates is selling from $2.75 to $3 per crate. A car or two of southern lettuce is also on the market and this lettuce will probably command top prices.

The Argonaut Oil company, one of the pioneers of the Huntington Beach field, has passed into the hands of the Holly Oil company. The Argonaut properties and holdings will hereafter be known as the Holly Development company.

Lewis Enters Field
The Holly Oil company has completed the redrilling and deepening of its No. 1 and puts the well on production at a depth of 4,615 feet. The well was drilled up in the best of condition and there is every reason to believe it will duplicate its offset, the famous Jackie Coogan No. 1.

Rapid changes are taking place every day at Huntington Beach. One of the most important was the taking over of the General Petroleum's community lease by E. G. Lewis, manager of the Palos Verdes estate. The property was drilled by the G. P. with one well, but no oil was found at a depth of 4,000 feet. Lewis believes the General Petroleum stopped on top of the oil sand and will redrill the well to prove his contention.

Art and Poetry was the theme of the remainder of the program.

Mrs. Roy Horton in a most interesting talk on the former subject linked together the three great arts, architecture, painting and sculpture in such a logical manner that the space covered in a brief talk seemed remarkable.

Telling of the great stone wall of China, she pointed out its marked influence upon art and history of the Chinese race and completed her talk by showing a beautiful painting of one of the gates in the wall, kindly loaned by Miss Evelyn Nunn.

Poetry was discussed by Eleanor Elliott, who spoke of the modern poets of America and the place they are winning in the world, with a few examples of the verse of different ones, including Amy Lowell, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Sara Teasdale, Witter Bynner and Vachel Lindsay.

E. D. Linder was doubly surprised on Sunday, it being his eightieth birthday, by the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phelps, daughter, Miss Lucille, and son, Gerald, Mr. and Mrs. Allen and daughter, Miss Ophelia, all of Cucamonga. Mr. and Mrs. E. Phelps were also guests at dinner.

The afternoon ended with a discussion of a Christmas carnival which the association plans to present in the near future.

In the afternoon a niece of Mr. Linder, Mrs. O'Neal and husband and son, Robert, of Los Angeles accompanied by another niece,

REALTORS IN FLURRY OVER PRESIDENT'S BALL

REVEAL VAST PROSPERITY AS RECORD IS MADE

November Fees In County Recorder's Office Set Unprecedented Pace GAIN REMARKABLE

Marks Established In All Previous Months Are Shattered

Another record went glimmering here today, when Miss Justice Whitney, county recorder, announced that fees collected by her office for the month of November reached a total of $3,444.30.

This new record is far ahead of any previous month, Miss Whitney said, and is $571 more than the amount collected for the month of November of last year.

All Records Shattered

At the same time, Miss Whitney pointed out that the fees for each month of the present year have exceeded by fully $500 the corresponding months of last year.

"This is a remarkable record," said Miss Whitney, "for despite the fact that November was a short month, with three holidays, the fees collected established a new record. The previous high record, that of April of this year, was $3,290."

The marked increase in the amount of fees is due, in large part, to the many new subdivisions and the steady increase in population."

Reveals Prosperity

"No better proof of the continued prosperity of Santa Ana and Orange county could be asked."

Although her office has been handicapped by a shortage of copyists, due to the ruling of the supreme court cutting down county assistants, Miss Whitney said excellent progress had been made in handling the record business.

Send This Copy of The Santa Ana Register To "Folks In the East"

Santa Ana, in the opinion of established realtors, is the wonder city of the Southland. As such, the city has much to offer home-seekers and investors.

Santa Ana realtors believe in their city. They are always boasting. Thus, they prove their faith by their works. How about you? Are you doing your full share?

Prove your faith in your home town by spreading the good tidings. Let the "folks back East" know that you have found the garden spot of the world.

Send this copy of The Santa Ana Register to a friend or relative residing in another state. This issue, packed with interesting information concerning the "richest little county in the world," will serve as the magnet which will draw others here.

Santa Ana realtors will tell you that you need feel no hesitancy in boasting this community. These realtors have a sense of responsibility and are known far and wide for their fair dealings. When they tell you, "Santa Ana is the best bargain on the market," you may rest assured they are telling the exact truth.

Therefore, help yourself by helping your home town. Invite the world to come and partake of the many good things to be found here.

Send The Register to "all the folks." Extra copies may be obtained by notifying the circulation manager.

MANY KINDS OF FRUIT ARE GROWN IN COUNTY

Many tropical and semi-tropical fruits, whose names are unknown to most Easterners, are grown successfully in Orange county. Some of these fruits hold out promises of great commercial value for the future. The fact that these fruits grow to maturity and with promise of becoming substantial crops in the future is to be regarded as pointing to the attractiveness of the climate.

These fruits could not grow where there are freezes; some of them could not grow where blistering heat robs the summer of the joy of living.

Men have gone into far countries and have brought back fruits they have found growing there. Among these are the avocado. By budding and experimentation, California avocados have been developed to a far more stable and a better fruit than it has ever been in its native countries, Mexico, Guatemala and other tropical lands.

S. A. BOARD, 86 STRONG, BIG CITY ASSET

Bringing of Realty Convention Here One of Great Achievements

The Santa Ana Realty board today had demonstrated its effectiveness and the value of its organization to the community by the manner in which it has handled details of the arrangements for what is declared will be one of the largest gatherings of business men in annual convention ever held in this state. Decoration of the streets is but one of the details. The work was done at the expense of the board. The entertainment fund of more than $2500 virtually has been contributed by realtors and associated lines of business.

The board has "won its place in the sun" on many occasions in Santa Ana, but no achievement has been of greater value than the bringing of the eighteenth annual convention of the California Real Estate Association to this city.

The members have been engaged for the past several months in working on plans for the annual gathering and realtors arriving today and those reaching here tomorrow will find arrangements complete in every detail.

Membership Grows

The membership of the local organization has grown from a small membership of twenty-five or thirty a few months ago to a list of eighty-six of the most prominent of the real estate brokers in the city. Brokers at Newport Beach, Balboa, Costa Mesa and Laguna Beach are identified with it.

Here are the names and business addresses of the dealers who hold membership in the Santa Ana Realty board:

REALTY HEAD CITES 5 POINTS ESSENTIAL IN CHOOSING HOME

Executive Says Santa Ana Offers Exceptional Advantages to Buyers

By Freeman H. Bloodgood California's First Real Estate Commissioner, and Now President Santa Ana Realty Board.

Usually these five points count in making up the reasons for choosing one's home!

Is the business outlook good? For Santa Ana, yes. The surrounding country is prosperous, being intensively cultivated, highly productive, and devoted to a good variety of products, thus insuring good returns on the average, though one or two products might fall off somewhat in yield.

Is the society good? In Santa Ana, yes. The people are of the common sense, thrifty, conservative class, who have worked and saved, and who get on in comfortable circumstances. Just folks.

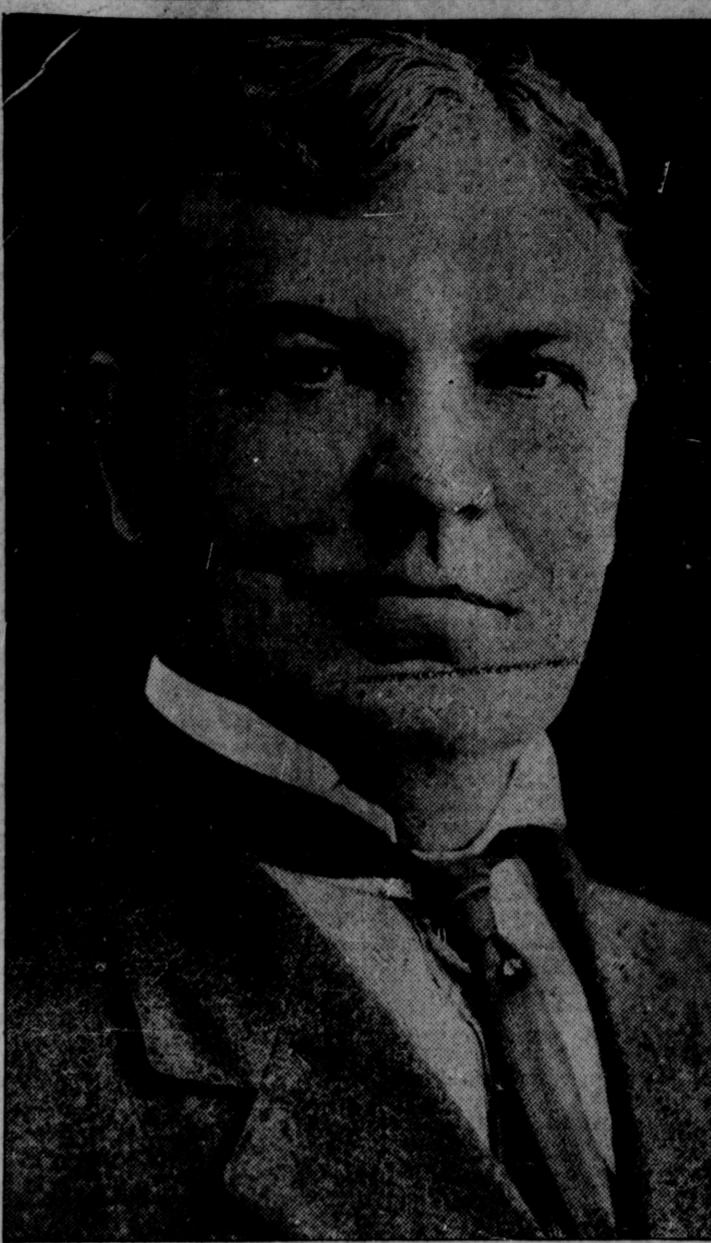

They are considerably alike, for the reason that Santa Ana is made up, first of settlers who liked the climate and saw the future. They, in turn, invited their relatives and friends to come. These new arrivals, in turn, invited their relatives and friends, and so on, and here we all are, with more coming.

Are the educational advantages good? Very good, indeed. None better, anywhere.

Two years of junior college work is added to the usual public school course.

Plenty of churches and good preachers? Yes, as good as the average in cities of this size.

Good fraternal orders? Yes, and of a high order of excellence. Clubs and civic societies especially active just now.

And to cap it all, where can one live with so many recreational opportunities as here, and of the sensible sort, too?

Beaches, mountains, foothills, and, withal, proximity to other places having amusement on a larger scale, such as Long Beach, Pasadena, Los Angeles and Hollywood.

One point more—strangers like our town, too. That speaks well for it. We have no snobs nor slums.

News Writers Guests

At noon newspaper men of the state who are attending the convention will be guests of the state association and local board at a luncheon.

Everett A. White, of Santa Ana, regional director and chairman of the local publicity committee, will preside.

"Advertising Real Estate" will be the subject of an address by M. D. Hartman, president of the California Home Extension association. It is expected that there will be a large attendance by newspaper men, as the convention has been well advertised and interest of the press has been aroused in the session.

It is expected that important legislative matters will be discussed and this fact also has aroused newspaper men to the possibility of development of good copy.

Headquarters at Inn.

The convention headquarters will be at the Inn and business sessions will be held in the American Legion home on Birch street.

Arrangements previously made provided for seating 400 delegates at the convention hall, but today it was found necessary to increase the number by 100. Reports indicated that there would be at least 500 realtors present at some sessions.

At or near the county line committees were scheduled to meet automobile caravans of realtors coming from various parts of the state. The Oakland and San Joaquin valley contingent was due to arrive here at 5:30 p.m. today and will be met at La Habra.

Tomorrow morning there will arrive caravans from Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Diego and other points in the Southland.

According to reports, sixty marchers will be in the Long Beach procession, seventy in the drive to be made from Los Angeles to Santa Ana by the Southwest Realty Board of Los Angeles and ten or fifteen from San Diego.

PLACENTIA IS JEWEL IN COUNTY'S CROWN

Nestled 'mid famous orange groves and some of the finest walnut groves of the county, Placentia, a town of more than 2000 inhabitants, is today adding oil to its business attractions. The Placentia orchardist has on the surface of the earth wealth-producing wealth, while far beneath the surface are possibilities of untold wealth.

The proven Richfield-Placentia oil field is at its very door. There is drilling going on within the city limits. The nearest proven oil well is only three-fourths of a mile east of the center of the town, while the great Chapman gusher, famous in the history of the oil industry since it was the first producer of the new field, lies only a mile and a half east of the center of the city.

The limits of the new field has never been determined.

PLAN DRY CONFERENCE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—W. J. Gloria, legal adviser of Prohibition Director Samuel F. Rutter, left today for Los Angeles to confer with Southern California prohibition agents on a tightening of liquor regulations in the southern end of the state.

200 EXPECTED TO ATTEND BRILLIANT AFFAIR TO BE GIVEN AT ST. ANN'S INN

Members of the Santa Ana Realty board and delegates to the eighteenth annual convention of the California Real Estate association were in a delighted flurry of anticipation today as they prepared for the president's ball at 9 o'clock tonight at St. Ann's Inn, the first entertainment feature of the big annual gathering of real estate brokers of the state which will open here officially tomorrow morning.

The dance will be strictly informal. Members of the Santa Ana board and invited friends will be the local guests. The invited list, however, will be confined largely to lines of business closely identified with that of the brokers.

The men, it is expected, will wear strictly informal dress but it is possible that many of the women will wear beautiful evening gowns.

Dancers Arriving

A large number of the delegates arrived today in anticipation of the dance. Many are expected to drive to Santa Ana this evening from nearby points especially to attend the dance. Arrangements have been completed for entertaining 200 dancers. The second march will be lead by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Tatum.

Tatum, president, and Glenn D.

Willaman, secretary, of the state association, arrived here from Los Angeles this morning to remain until after the convention. They were accompanied by their wives and members of the office force.

The latter will assist in taking care of details of official business of the association.

Thirty-four boards of the state have entered contestants. Many of the organizations have held elimination contests for the selection of speakers. Each speaker will have only five minutes in which to set forth features of his home city. Timers will promptly halt anyone who does not complete his address in the period allowed.

J. C. Wallace, secretary of the Santa Ana Realty board, announced that owing to the limited seating capacity at the theater, the public will not be admitted, except by ticket. Tickets may be had at convention headquarters, without cost, should it develop that seats will be available after delegates and visitors to the convention have been provided for.

Badges or tickets also will be necessary for admission to the convention hall. This rule has been made necessary to insure seating accommodations for the delegates.

The program provides a number of papers and discussions that will be of interest to the public and the convention committee will be pleased to grant privileges to local residents if there is room to accommodate them, it was announced.

TRANSPORTATION HERE DEVELOPING RAPIDLY

In addition to our 275 miles of paved highways over which operate, on regular schedules, many freight and passenger carrying automotive vehicles, Orange county enjoys the services of three excellent railroads, the Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Pacific Electric, one or the other of which touches practically every point in the county.

The Union Pacific system has purchased a right-of-way and is now extending its line down through the center of the county to Santa Ana via Fullerton and Anaheim.

When the Orange County Harbor at Newport is completed the county will have, through its own port and the Panama Canal, direct transportation by water to the sea-ports of the world.

PRISONERS ON STRIKE.

SAN QUENTIN PENITENTIARY, Calif., Dec. 6.—Ten I. W. W. prisoners were in solitary confinement today as a result of having refused to work on the jute mill, in the gardens or otherwise.

STORMS SWEEP NORTH.

Hold California Land Equivalent To Piece of Gold

Well-informed men are agreed that a piece of California real estate is there to do the rest. And what California is to the rest of the world, Orange county is to California.

All of that is good, Orange county affords the best.

Orange county leads in yield per acre in Valencia oranges, walnuts, sugar beets, and stands second in lemons and third in lima beans per acre as compared to other counties.

Orange county ranks fourth among the fifty-eight counties in the state in total products of the soil, (exclusive of oil) and ranks twelfth in all the United States. Although it is small in area, Orange county is the richest and most productive county of its size in all the world.

These features, together with ideal recreational opportunities, makes real estate investment a very safe proposition.

There have been tremendous sales during the past three years. We are becoming better known. Our high rank in productivity attracts attention. Our harbor possibilities surprise and convince all new comers.

Orange county, as a place in which to live and bring up a family, is truly ideal. Pride in beautifying home sites is the fashion.

This assures the future. Our destinies are rooted in the soil, which, under happy skies, smile in rich returns to the efforts of the husbandman.

Now as to real estate values and why they are at the area.

Three Conditions. Generally speaking, there are three conditions that determine the selling price of land in California.

First, there is the commercial value, the return value in crops, or minerals, or rents. All this sort of land finally finds its level in worth by what it returns to the owner in dollars and cents, net or above costs or outgo.

Second, there is the potential or prospective value. Under this class we find one value for farming, but another value for subdivision into city lots. The worth is influenced by the more or less speculative element. No one knows just how soon a subdivision may make the larger returns to the buyer. So, many elements enter into the situation.

Then, too, under prospective values, comes the likelihood of a new highway, or railroad, or harbor, or cannery or factory, etc., so that buyers are willing to pay a higher price than present returns would warrant because they have hopes that the returns will be greater than the new development taken place.

Water is king in California, whether it keeps settlers off the land (until the land is reclaimed), or whether it adds value to land when made available for irrigation purposes. Hence, land at once takes on a real advance in worth whenever development brings greater returns to the owner.

Third, there is the sentimental value. Some persons place a high price on land because it will sell for the high price to persons that will pay a high price in order to possess that particular piece of land. It may be beautiful, it may be a gem of location as to climate, proximity to centers of culture or education or recreation centers.

Then it may be a most desirable location with respect to the one's business, such, for instance, as an orange grove within thirty minutes from the professional man's office; or a walnut grove that can be left for four or five months, while the owner takes a trip, annually.

There is another element that often determines a selling price, and that is the purely speculative feature—the hope that the buyer can soon resell at an advance. Instance the fearful boost of land prices in the eastern states during the war. We are thankful that no such general increase in values and calamitous depression took place in California.

We inherently love nature. Those of us who have been "shut in" in office work, or those who have confining tasks in the industrial world, long to get out and to own some land.

Such persons have a limited knowledge of values but an over-supply of primary appetite to possess some land. The real estate agent is there to do the rest. And, in fact, it often turns out that the investment has been for the good.

A bank clerk's friend loaned him money to buy a car. The clerk's health and "pey" so improved that he got a raise in salary in six weeks. Ownership begins thrift and efficiency.

To sum up, there is the actual worth as measured by returns to the owner of the land. There is the prospective worth due to what is going to come about by way of improvements generally. There is the worth to the particular buyer because of his ability to buy what he wants and get enjoyment out of it peculiar to his liking, the aesthetic value he himself puts upon the land. And these three elements or factors intermingle and blend and cross each other in almost all cases in California.

These have been tremendous sales during the past three years. We are becoming better known. Our high rank in productivity attracts attention. Our harbor possibilities surprise and convince all new comers.

Habitual cruelty was charged by Maria Amaya, in suit for divorce from her husband, Macario Amaya, on file in superior court here today.

According to the plaintiff, the husband beat her, and called her vile names. They were married at Metcalfe, Ariz., in 1916, and have no children.

PALM-LINED STREETS BEAUTIFY SANTA ANA

Miles of well paved streets and boulevards lined with graceful semi-tropic trees and beautiful lawns, help to make Santa Ana a wonderland of home possibilities. The city's paving program has always kept pace with its rapid growth and stands at the top of the list of California cities in street improvements. In addition to its thirty miles of concrete thoroughfares, some eighty-five oiled and graded streets make travel by automobile a delight and pleasure in all parts of the city. More than one hundred miles of cement sidewalks have been placed and paved streets and sidewalks are rapidly being extended wherever required.

Officers Sid Smithwick, Claude Rogers and L. C. Neuschwander, who made the arrest, described the happenings which preceded it.

The defendants, who were represented by Attorney Morris Cain, did not testify. Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin represented the people.

BUSINESS DISTRICT SHOWS PROSPERITY

The stores in the downtown business center of Santa Ana radiate prosperity. The modern plate glass fronts and commodious store rooms would be a credit to a much larger city. These are no dull season, due largely to the prosperous tributary trade of which Santa Ana is the center. Its geographical location in the center of Orange county gives it a trading advantage of such importance that business failures are practically unknown. Its fame as a good business town is spread far. Business property is regarded as one of the very best local investments. An opportunity is here offered to the investor in the way of building business blocks. Increased values in addition to dividend paying properties are sure to accrue.

OLD HOMESTEAD TO BE OFFERED PUBLIC

The homestead of two old pioneers of the Anaheim district is soon to be advertised for sale, according to announcement made today by C. J. Mauerhan, of Anaheim, administrator of the estate of the late J. C. and Mrs. Mary Ann Schulz.

The late H. Clay Kellogg was made administrator shortly after the death of Mrs. Schulz in August, 1921, and after his death

REVEALS MAGIC WORDS WHICH LURED HIM

"Ten years ago I had lunch with Mr. Elliott, late president of the First National bank of Los Angeles. That's how I became 'sold' on Santa Ana and Orange county."

Stanley Goode, of Wallace and Goode, realtors, and executive of the Santa Ana Realty board, insisted today that that luncheon was the moment of his transfer from Portland, Ore., to Santa Ana, Orange county.

"Little bit of Horace Greeley about it, I guess."

Go To Orange County
Mr. Elliott was well along in years, and he said to me, 'If I were a young man I would go to Orange county and grow up with it.'

"Diversified crops was the two-word explanation he gave me of his prophecy for continued prosperity in Orange county regardless of depression elsewhere."

"Diversified crops still remains the explanation. It is not generally known that this county is second in the state for truck garden stuff. Los Angeles county comes first. Imperial is Third."

In third place is Imperial county, which the average person always thinks of as first in that branch of farming.

"If one crop should fail, the great number of other crops in the county keep the balance of prosperity."

"We have citrus fruits, walnuts, beets, beans, — Oh, everything. If it will grow at all, I guess it will grow in Orange county."

BEACH RESORTS OF COUNTY ATTRACTIVE

In Newport Beach, East Newport and Balboa, ten miles from Santa Ana, on Newport harbor, Orange county has a popular recreation resort of unique appeal and one that is destined to grow and prosper and thrive as the years pass by.

Would you swim? A three mile stretch of breakers lures you out into the "briny."

Would you bask in the sunshine on the beach? A broad strand offers such accommodations for many thousands.

Would you go a-fishing? Beach, pier and rocks offer many vantage points, while the more hardy will find sport aplenty out in the Catalina channel a short distance off shore.

Would you row, canoe, sail, or motorboat? The seven-mile area of Newport Bay is at hand, and the Newport Harbor Yacht club house offers rest and enjoyment between times.

Mauerhan, a nephew, was named as his successor.

The property consists of ten acres, adjoining the subdivision of the late Col. Julian O. Royer. It is on the Ball road, about three-quarters of a mile west of the state highway to Anaheim and one mile south of Anaheim.

entertainment of members. Santa Ana, too, is becoming known as a city of good music, both vocal and instrumental, with bands and several orchestras under the direction of instructors whose training has been of the best. An outdoor Christmas community song service is an annual event of enjoyment for all.

BILLY EVANS TALKS ON RING PUNCHERS

Expert Says Dempsey Only Boxer Who Packs Old Time K. O. Wallop

By BILLY EVANS.

In any sport the athlete with the wallop gets the spotlight. The ball player who can hit home runs, the boxer who can knock his opponent cold, the golfer who can drive 'em a mile gets the hero worship.

Babe Ruth almost overnight became the baseball idol of the country, simply because he could hit the ball farther than any one else playing the game.

Jack Dempsey is a favorite because he possesses the big wallop. No matter how big or strong they are, Jack's opponents seldom go the distance.

Punch Is Lost Art.

All of which gives rise to the question, is the punch becoming a lost art in boxing?

Of the present-day champions, Jack Dempsey is about the only one who rocks the boys to sleep. And because of the few heavyweight contenders the public doesn't get very many chances to see Dempsey in action.

The pugilistic game could get no greater boost than the coming of a champion in any class who proved himself to be a real "knock-out."

There are no Stanley Ketchells or Terry McGoverns roaming the padded pastures these days.

Ketchell Has Color.

I don't believe there was ever a more colorful fighter than Stanley Ketchell. I saw him in a number of his best fights and never failed to get a thrill. Ketchell was a real fighter, yet the possessor of much cleverness.

Recently I saw in action in Detroit a youngster by the name of Bob Sage, who reminded me, in many ways of the late Stanley Ketchell. It wouldn't surprise me if within a year or two this fellow Sage would be a prominent figure in pugilistic circles.

Sage is a student at the University of Detroit. He is a middle-weight built along the lines of Ketchell. He is a fine looking chap, and so far has managed to retain his pugilistic despite a number of hard battles. Like Ketchell, Sage can hit. Like Ketchell, Sage really enjoys the fight game.

He Is Tough Luck Man of Santa Ana High School Team

OTTO GARDNER
Introducing Otto Gardner, the Santa Ana high school hard luck man.

Playing the last game of a long season schedule during which he did not take out time a single time, Gardner, who held down the left end berth on "Spud" Morrison's Orange league championship team, was smashed to the ground under a San Diego avalanche last Saturday.

He was taken from the field with a broken collar bone. Gardner came to Poly from Utah. He tried out for a halfback job, but was shifted to end when Harold Schuhardt was injured in the Lincoln game. Gardner made good with a vengeance.

TROJANS CHOSEN TO BATTLE PENN STATE

PORLTAND, Ore., Dec. 6.—Dr. G. Duback, of Oregon Agricultural college at Corvallis, president of the Pacific coast intercollegiate conference, announced that University of Southern California has been selected to meet Penn State at Pasadena at the Tournament of Roses, New Year's day in the annual East-West classic.

The vote a six to one in favor of the Trojans as against the University of Oregon, University of California, which had already declined to participate in the game, received a vote from the University of Idaho.

Drawing a bye in its Orange County league schedule, the Santa Ana high school girls' basketball team will travel to Riverside tomorrow to meet the strong team of the high school there in a practice engagement.

The local Junior college team also will make the trip to play the Riverside Junior college aggregation.

Miss Nellie Wilson, Poly coach, has gathered together a formidable team and there are many who believe the local co-eds will unseat Anaheim as the Orange county champions this fall. Santa Ana defeated both Tustin and Huntington Beach in its first two starts this fall.

The team will lineup at Riverside as follows, Miss Wilson announced: Forwards, Frances Croft and Josephine Crookshank; guards, Ruth Finley and Mable Cook; centers, Axia Goodykoontz and Sallie Cochran.

The Junior college girls will play as follows: Forwards, Wilma Plavan and Edith Plavan; guards, Sophie Yorba and Helen Wilkins; centers, Clella Prough and Hazel Kinsel. Substitutes will be Regina Devanet and Mabel Harvey.

ED JUDY,
Ohio State Quarterback

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 6.—From polishing dishes in a fraternity house kitchen to varsity quarterback on the Ohio state eleven in one short year. Reads a bit like a fairy tale, yet it sums up the career of Ed Judy.

Judy hails from Martins Ferry, O., where he starred as a high school athlete for four years. On graduation Judy faced the proposition of paying his own way to a college degree and making good on the varsity eleven, his greatest ambition.

Since the start of the season at Ohio State, Coach Wilcox was puzzled over the quarterback situation. He tried out several candidates and finally decided on Judy as the man to direct the destinies of Ohio State on the gridiron.

Judy occupies the unique position of being the first sophomore to be at the helm of the Scarlet and Gray since 1915 when Howard Vorges of Columbus won that berth in his second year.

Experience is all that Judy needs in order to develop into a great quarterback, say his football members. Judy has the spirit and the brains. He is a merit student in his classes.

Last year he received an "M"—the highest mark given in one-third of his academic work and "G" the rest—the second highest mark. On his graduation at Martins Ferry high school he stood second in his class scholastically. All of which proves that it is possible to indulge in athletics and do good work in the class room.

No Longer Polishes Dishes Judy, by the way, has graduated from polishing dishes, which is a more polite title to give to a dishwasher. Last summer he toured the small towns in southern Ohio and West Virginia selling aluminum ware. He managed to save enough to start him in a new venture.

He is now a dealer in sweets. On his summer bank roll he has established serve-self candy stands in various places around the campus. In the morning he replenishes the stocks, in the evening he collects the profits.

He has established a paying business, but feels that he can handle two jobs, now that the serve-self proposition is paying so well.

FLOYD JOHNSON MAY BATTLE LUIS FIRPO

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Louis Firpo, Argentine heavyweight, who made a commendable showing in the roped arena here last summer, will probably return soon for a bout with Floyd Johnson, according to a telegram received by Tex Rickard. Bill Brennan is also talked of as an opponent.

Huntington Beach Briefs Kit May and Frances Beatrice Martin were united in marriage by the Rev. Luther A. Arthur in the Baptist Church parsonage at 2 p. m. December 1st. The couple will make their home in Balboa.

At their regular meeting held in their hall last Friday evening the following officers were elected to serve the Oil Workers' Union for another year: Richard Dunne, president; James W. Quiggle, vice-president; Wm. J. Cameron, secretary-treasurer; S. C. Minor, recording secretary; D. C. Beagle, guard; James Sullivan, guide; District Council Richard Dunne; W. A. Findley, Mr. C. Hazard and G. W. Simms, trustees.

John M. Barlow, manager of the Plunge, left Tuesday for Hutchinson, Kas., where he will visit with Mrs. Barlow's parents. Mrs. Barlow has been there the past two months recuperating. The plunge will be closed during his absence and painting and repairing will be the order while he is away.

SIX CYLINDER LOVE

Road Show at Yost Wins Favor

Because of Human Touch;

Cast Members Good

"Six Cylinder Love," the road

show attraction which played at the Yost theater here last night, had enough human touches that appealed and enough clever lines spoken by three or four clever persons to procure for itself a position far above the average play of its kind. Nobody wanted his money back after the final curtain and everyone present would hate to have missed the production.

The play was billed as a comedy, and it was in "patches." But it really was a comedy-drama, at times threatening to become a tragedy. Outside of the first act which dragged at times, the Yost audience wanted to cry as often as it wanted to laugh for this man Kingsley Benedict, who played Gilbert Sterling.

The plot was simple, natural and quite possible. The story concerned a pair of newlyweds, Gilbert and Marilyn Sterling, who are persuaded by rapid-fire auto salesman, William Donroy, to purchase a $1500 automobile from Richard Burton, who has drifted into debt because his family had lived above his means.

Possession of the car brought a bunch of near-society leeches, who helped the Sterlings spend their slender bank account and slip far into debt. Gilbert Sterling lost his position because he "borrowed" some of the firm's money to pay for his extravagances.

Sterling, desperate and facing what he believed was a fall term, threw the social parasites out of his house. With his wife, who at last realized their plight, Sterling fought his way uphill, paid all of his debts and won back his old position and a better one because his employer, George Stapleton, knew he had the stuff in him to do just that thing.

The work of Benedict as Gilbert Sterling was outstanding. John Elliott, as Stapleton, was excellent. Clem Beving as Donroy, the auto salesman, and William Friend, as Richard Burton, were good. Miss Nellie Burr, as Marilyn Sterling, portrayed a difficult role realistically.

PIONEERS OPEN DEVELOPMENT IN HEART OF S. A.

HOMESEEKERS OFFERED ATTRACTIVE LOTS

Leo Borchard, pioneer and real estate developer, whose influence is constantly making itself felt in the upbuilding of Santa Ana. With Dillard E. Ford, he joins in offering to home-seekers attractive lots in Wilshire Square, South Main Street, north of Edinger Street.

MR. EASTERNER, HEED CALL OF SOUTHLAND!

Mr. Easterner, California's great out-of-doors is calling you. And while you will travel far to answer that call, those of us who live in Orange county live in that great out-of-doors the year round.

Mountains and seashore, rugged canyons and broken coast, shaded nooks and sandy coves, gurgling brooks and the gentle undulations of a shimmering sea—all of these are ours; and they are yours if you wish to join us.

Opportunities for recreation are on every hand. And a wide range of choice lies within the daily command of the resident of Orange county. It is no day's journey nor week's travel to the land of heart's desire for the tired business man or farmer who wants to take a day off or an evening where there is a change in scenery. Twenty minutes' ride in your automobile or in an automobile stage takes you to the beach for a dip or a sunbath.

James noonday lunches.

COUNTY IS NATURAL HOME OF VALENCIAS

Orange county is rightly named, for it is the natural home of the Valencia orange and produced approximately six hundred million golden oranges in the 1921 season, which returned $15,000,000 to growers. No wonder that many men and women have grown wealthy in the orange growing business and that good groves are bringing up to $4,000 and $5,000 an acre, and returning good interest on that investment.

city. His activity was then turned to Huntington Beach, and there he was instrumental in laying out the city when it was but a barley field, and afterwards he became general manager of the Huntington Beach company, the Bolsa ranch, and other large interests.

Large Land Operations
Mr. Borchard, with his brother Frank, began acquiring property and continued until their holdings reached the extent of 316 and 160 acres on the west side of Santa Ana, 200 acres south of Huntington Beach, 118 acres on the mesa, 252 acres in the bottoms, and 70 acres at Fairview. Mr. Borchard owned, cojointly with his four brothers, a 20-acre tract at Garden Grove, as well as other property. That their judgment in acquiring land destined to become immensely valuable was sound is attested by the fact that in 1920 the two brothers, Frank and Leo, sold over 800 acres of land for $355,000, a vast difference from the original purchase price, paid when the land was mere swamp.

Mr. Borchard and his brothers were known also as breeders of Percheron-Norman horses. They brought here some of the best Percheron stallions ever imported to Orange county, and owned also the celebrated jack, "Burr Oak," which was valued at something like $3000. Mr. Borchard was the first rancher in western Orange county to use mechanical appliances in farming operations. Tractors were extensively used in his later operations, and in this way much of the back-breaking labor in land clearing and cultivation was obviated, and much faster progress was made in bringing the land into productivity.

Retired, But Still Busy
Some time ago Mr. Borchard sold much of his property and retired to Santa Ana, where he purchased a residence on South Broadway. He still owns, however, valuable lands in Huntington Beach and Newport. In addition to an orange grove in Santa Ana canyon, he is also a director and stockholder in many local enterprises.

When he and Mr. Ford secured the property then known as the Paine tract, and now as "Wilshire Square," they determined to subdivide it and put it on the market. And "Wilshire Square" in the heart of Santa Ana's fast growing southwest section, will become, in the near future, a section of cosy homes, on beautiful streets.

Mr. Ford Enters
The meeting of Mr. Borchard and Mr. D. E. Ford occurred some twenty years ago, in Huntington Beach, and since that time these men have been fast friends and business associates. Mr. Ford was born in Missouri and came here as a boy of eighteen. His first vote was cast in the sharp political fight which preceded the separation of Orange county from Los Angeles county. Mr. Ford first located in Fullerton, when, at the early age of 22, he was made foreman of the St. Helena Ranch company, located north of that

MEN PROMINENT IN EARLY HISTORY HERE TO THROW OPEN GREAT SUBDIVISION

By C. W. McFARLANE

Due to a popular misconception, which will be far-reaching in its effect, and will give great impetus to the already rapidly developing southwestern portion of the city of Santa Ana.

Latest and Best Achievement
Under the direction of these pioneers, a subdivision comprising some 73 acres, situated almost in the very heart of the "Greater Santa Ana" that is soon to be, fronting on the 1200 block on South Main street, and having as its southern boundary Edinger, will be placed on the market. This highly desirable residential property, known as "Wilshire Square," will set a new standard of value for the home-seeker and investor, and will be complete in all its general improvements, such as water, gas, sewers, electricity, paved streets, ornamental shrubbery, trees, etc.

Perhaps a glance into the early history of Borchard and Ford will serve to illustrate the exceptional enterprise of these men. Severe and heart-breaking toll can be read between the lines of the lives of these men, who, along with many others, are largely responsible for the growth and progress of the charming and wealthy community in which we live. The eldest son of a family of five boys and three girls, Leo Borchard was born on a ranch two and a half miles northeast of what is now Oxnard, in Ventura county, on December 16, 1879. His father, Casper Borchard, settled on land hitherto untouched by the hand of man, and cleared it of the underbrush with which it was covered, plowed it, and prepared it for cultivation. It is interesting to note that he was the first man to plow soil south of the Santa Clara river, in Ventura county. Casper Borchard, by his resourcefulness and untiring energy came to own 4000 acres in Ventura county and 2700 acres in Madera county as well as several fine ranches in Orange county. Leo was reared and remained in Ventura county until 1900, when he came to this locality. Under his father, Mr. Borchard cleared and drained the land which was known as the Gospel Swamp, and to this day the well drained area, the great ditches through the swamp, and Talbert road remain as a monument to his efficient work in that direction.

Large Land Operations
Mr. Borchard, with his brother Frank, began acquiring property and continued until their holdings reached the extent of 316 and 160 acres on the west side of Santa Ana, 200 acres south of Huntington Beach, 118 acres on the mesa, 252 acres in the bottoms, and 70 acres at Fairview. city. His activity was then turned to Huntington Beach, and there he was instrumental in laying out the city when it was but a barley field, and afterwards he became general manager of the Huntington Beach company, the Bolsa ranch, and other large interests.

In 1912, when the Holly Sugar factory was built at Huntington Beach Mr. Ford was secured by this firm to fill the important post of agriculturalist, in which he remained until a few years ago. During that period he shipped hundreds of car loads of products to the east.

Mr. Ford may be rightly deemed a business genius, for every project that he has been connected with, or in which he has exercised a managerial function, has succeeded; and in his twenty-eight years of association with large firms, and in the selling of property, he has had the supreme satisfaction of seeing the people who had invested their money upon his word grow prosperous.

Increase of Land Values
An interesting incident is related by Mr. Ford which shows how enormous have been the profits in land investments in the past two and a half decades. In 1892 he rented the whole ocean front of Long Beach, south of the pier, for the nominal sum of $140 a month. This property he sublet to various concessions then catering to the small crowds which gathered there for the week-ends. It would now be almost impossible to realize the staggering sum which would now be required to rent this ocean front, even for a week. This is typical of the enormous increase in the value of land that has taken place all over Southern California, and particularly in Orange county, where rich deposits of oil and thousands of acres of orange groves have yielded untold profits.

"It is only natural to conclude," said Mr. Ford, "that Santa Ana is only on the threshold of a growth even more startling than its already enviable record of a hundred per cent gain in population in the past two and a half years. In fact the whole county will feel a powerful upswing, to put it in financial terms, which will reflect itself in increasing realty values and industrial expansion."

See Fortune in Paine Tract
When Mr. Borchard and Mr. Ford first became aware that the Paine property, as the 73-acre tract was then known, could be purchased, they realized that it was an exceptional opportunity. Their long experience in the judging of what was good and bad in land told them that here was a property which presented more than the usual favorable points which make for a good investment—and they bought it. These men, long familiar with their subject, knew that the history of cities, especially those of the Pacific coast, showed that the tendency of growth lay to the southwest, and that this property, lying directly in the path of this southwestward growth, convenient to schools, and to the people, as they have mense demand as highly desirable homesites; and their judgment vindicated many times in the past by successful investments is again vindicated in the opening of "Wilshire Square," in the heart of Santa Ana's fastest developing section.

Complete Public Improvements

When they decided to open "Wilshire Square" to the people of Orange county and of Santa Ana they determined one thing, namely, that this property would be placed on the market with complete public improvements, such as paved streets, sewers, gas and electricity, water and ornamental trees, and that moderate prices would prevail throughout the whole transaction; that "Wilshire Square" would be an opportunity open to all, and an opportunity seconded in its scope of profit to investors. With these policies in mind they looked around for men who had the capability and who were foursquare in their dealings with the public to act as selling agents in "Wilshire Square." These sound qualities they found in the persons of E. J. Chambers and G. L. Molchan. Mr. Chambers is a realty man who has had long and extensive experience in some of the country's greatest development, and has been engaged in the formation and conduct of some of the biggest insurance companies, and Mr. Molchan's successful operations in and around Santa Ana have placed him well in the forefront as a realty man. These men were selected by Mr. Borchard and Mr. Ford to actively present to the people the splendid quality of the investment known as "Wilshire Square."

Offered As An Investment

The financial independence of both Mr. Borchard and Mr. Ford places the opening of "Wilshire Square" on a basis entirely different from that of the majority of the developments now taking place in the great and far-famed section known as Southern California. It was their thought when they first decided to subdivide the property to place it before the people in a manner which would immediately justify the application of the term "investment."

Throughout their whole experience they have bought property which they would like to own and continue to own, and therefore when they did decide to dispose of it, they found it desirable to others for the same reasons that they themselves purchased it. This fact, perhaps more than any other has enabled these two men to purchase property and to sell it profitably, both to themselves and to the purchaser; and this same fact has created for them a confidence justly merited, and much appreciated, by the subsequent purchasers. Therefore it can readily be seen that "Wilshire Square" is the product of ripe judgment in realty values, and it is the intention of Mr. Borchard and Mr. Ford to offer to the people, as they have property really capable of earning money for others as well as for themselves.

Publicity Campaign Opens

After a lengthy conference with Messrs. Borchard and Ford, Mr. Chambers and Mr. Molchan, with the usual rapidity of successful realty operators, formulated a plan, marshalled their forces, and some weeks ago began a strong campaign inviting people throughout Orange county to conjecture as to "What Was In The Heart of Santa Ana?" Meanwhile they prepared the tract for the official opening.

Unusual Interest Aroused

County-wide interest was stirred by the cryptic slogan of "What's In the Heart of Santa Ana?" despite the amusing and short-sighted efforts of others to turn the tide of interest their way, which, of course, magnified the real issue when it was finally revealed that "Wilshire Square" was "in the heart of Santa Ana."

Located as it is, within the one-mile and mile circle drawn from Fourth and Main streets, its strategic position on South Main street and on Edinger street, the two main arteries leading to Newport, the future harbor of Santa Ana, and to the fast-growing Huntington Beach, assures the future of "Wilshire Square" as an ever-increasing value in real estate. The improvements are now in state of progress, and all preparations have been made to push the work as fast as possible. An important feature will be the paving of the streets under the Vrooman act, which extends the period of payment over ten years.

The tract office at 1242 South Main street, which will be the permanent headquarters of Chambers and Molchan, will be kept open for one year after the sale of the property. This unique innovation assures the purchaser that his interests will be well guarded. Temporary uptown offices have been established at 104 West Fourth street, from which much of the early campaign was directed.

The Logic of Elimination

The true spirit of the pioneers, and their faith in the land of their choice, was revealed at one of the early conferences between Messrs. Borchard and Ford, and Chambers and Molchan, when by a process of elimination Mr. Ford pointed out that the United States was the greatest and richest country in the world, and that California was its best state, and that Southern California was the best part of the best state, and that Orange county is the richest county in the state if not in the world; and that Santa Ana, the largest city in the county, was the richest city per capita of any other in the world, except one, and that "Wilshire Square" was located in the fastest growing section of Santa Ana and must be, to all intents and purposes, the best subdivision in the world. While Mr. Ford makes actual claims to this distinction, it can be seen that his faith in the county and in the city of Santa Ana, and in the city of Orange, of "Wilshire Square" as is business as it is admirable. That does the real pioneer, the community leader, who continues to aid the progress and development of the fortunate community in which he or she lives.

Everyone on "Ground Floor," while the secret is out and "Wilshire Square" is the place to go to buy in the heart of Santa Ana, the formal opening of this property is officially set for Tuesday, December 12th at 5 p. m. The association of Chamber and Merchants will give the people of Orange county and Santa Ana an opportunity to thoroughly inspect the property and to realize its favorable aspects. It is stated, however, that no location is under consideration, until the opening day, and further, no reservations can be accepted. The public is allowed to come and women an equal opportunity to participate in the purchase of lots in "Wilshire Square."

CAMPERS AT RANCH
HOUSE ARE SOUGHT

Whoever camped in the house on Hidden Ranch, in the head of the San Joaquin between November 28 and December 1st, has earned the respect of the owner of the house, C. H. Thompson of Orange, who has inserted a classified ad in The Register in effort to locate his unwelcome guest.

Thompson does not object to the stowaway, but his ire was aroused by the campers one. The campers in this instance were not content with sleeping in the house, eating the food there, and taking advantage of the facilities, but they destroyed much food and generally wrecked the house, according to Thompson.

"They left dirty dishes all over the place," said Thompson. "They used my sugar to make candy, and left their stowaways behind. Because make arrangements there. I have a sign in the house warning chance visitors not to leave matches or cigarette ends. These were left at least a dozen scattered around the floor. They left the door of the barn open, and when I got there about fifteen minutes ago, I found the barn fighting to get at the hay. I am willing to pay $10 just to know who those people were."

The man who owned the ranch and his men spent at least half of their time at the Hidden Ranch during the time they are plowing and planting, and during the harvest, vest, and some visitors like the cattle once or twice a week.

It is a residence, not a free camp, and the man who never locked the house, because I just felt that if some forest ranger or anybody else came along, he would need a place to sleep, so I ought to have it." While maintaining open houses to some minor visitor's arrival, he added, "I talk to that crowd just about a mile to that

BRISTOL CONTRACT IS LET ONCE MORE

B. F. Ford, paving contractor, today was awarded the street paving on Bristol street, following award by the council Monday night, a contract for paving the street for $15,000, the maximum of the city limit.

For the second time in the past two months he was the successful bidder for the work. His offer was the same as on the previous bid which was awarded to him. The contract, however, was so small it was necessary to repeat part of the procedure. The total was slightly more than $3,000. W. O. Ogden and Wells & Associates were other bidders.

For that and that unless the council desired otherwise he would do but little work on the street until after the rainy season. Rain might run.

Trustee H. D. Hale said he would like to see something done that would afford a drain for water running on the street.

DEPALMA BEGINS 10
DAY SPEEDING TERM

(United Press Special Wire) Dec. 5.—Ralph De Palma, famed auto racer, was in jail here today, serving his ten day sentence for speeding.

True to his promise made a month ago to return to serve his sentence immediately after his release from jail, De Palma appeared at the jail late yesterday.

"I'm ready," he told the sheriff. A trim young man, suit and case in hand, De Palma made as a bellboy guides a guest to his room, to a seat among the other prisoners.

"Bebe Daniels wrote a book or something about it when she was to jail for speeding, but I don't believe it," he said.

We are serving coffee free all week. Come in and sample it. D. L. Anderson Co., 205 East Fourth Street.

WHO ARE CAUCASIANS?

The recent Supreme Court decision barring a Hawaiian Jap from American citizenship definitely established the fact that Japanese cannot become citizens. It seems, however, to have left the general racial problem rather vague.

Eligible candidates for citizenship, as the court explained, must by our law be "white persons" or else persons of African birth or descent. The court interprets "white persons" as "Caucasians." This is simple enough, as regards the case in question. Japanese are classified as Mongolians, not Caucasians. They are also classified as yellow, not white. They lose by either test.

But, the Rocky Mountain News wants to know, what about the Hindus, who are Caucasians but black? And what about the Finns and Turks and Magyars, who are white, but are considered branches of the Mongol race? The latter nationalities are admitted to citizenship. The Hindus appear not to be.

Ethnology and law will have to get together one of these times, and settle the status of all the races with regard to American citizenship.

ANTI-LYNCH LEGISLATION

A bitter fight in the Senate over the Dyer anti-lynching bill was expected, and these expectations have been realized. It is not surprising that there is difference of opinion over the measure itself, but there should be no difference of opinion in any body or community over the evil of mob violence and the necessity for its suppression.

If every state or local community will take measures to prevent such outbreaks as lynching and massacre, or will bring the guilty to punishment promptly, there will be no need of interference. But there have been too many instances, not confined to any particular section of the country, in which local authorities have shown dangerous inability or lack of desire to bring the guilty to justice.

Violence breeds violence. If the states acting singly cannot check it, their only hope will be in united effort.

LEAGUE MEDICAL CONGRESS

At the medical conference held in Paris recently, under the auspices of the League of Nations, doctors were present from Russia and Germany and the United States as well as from member nations of the League. Meetings were held at the Pasteur Institute, and the French minister of health acted as official host to the delegates.

Most of the work of the health congress this year was devoted to antitoxin serums, especially those used in cases of diphtheria, typhoid fever and dysentery. An effort is being made to adopt an international standard for measuring them. Other activities include the compilation of some important health statistics toward which the Rockefeller Foundation donated $30,000 for three years.

The medical conference is one phase of the League's work in which all the nations are glad to co-operate without bitterness or jealousy or distrust. The work of doctors anxious to promote the health of the whole world has barely begun. It is almost limitless in its scope, yet it is hopeful work which sets a good example for other departments of the League of Nations.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

In purchasing fancy Christmas seals the thoughtful shopper will not forget the Red Cross seals, every one of which means added strength to the fight against tuberculosis in this country. The Red Cross Christmas seal is not a very old idea, but it has developed rapidly until now its annual sale represents a considerable sum of money set aside for this specific work of healing and prevention.

These seals may be placed on the backs of envelopes or on Christmas packages so long as they do not lie on the face which bears the regular postage stamp. They may be put on the packages which hang on the tree or are carried in person to the receiver. Or they may be purchased simply as a means of contributing to the anti-tuberculosis work regardless of their subsequent use.

Tuberculosis can be tremendously reduced if not wholly eradicated in this country, and there is no simpler way of contributing to the funds needed to fight it than by buying the cheery little seals.

WOMAN'S CLUBS ACTIVITY

One of the great forces of community life is found in the clubs and other organizations of women. Many movements of civic betterment have resulted from their efforts.

When these clubs first became general, the majority went in for literary study. A multitude of women, through their programs, became familiar with inspiring poetry, drama and works of history. Later the women seemed to feel an urge to take up practical lines of effort, and they went in for civic movements.

All such lines of work and study are beneficial. At the present time, one of the best fields for woman's club activity can be found in political education.

In most of the larger states, women have obtained the suffrage only within recent years. A great many of them have no adequate conception of political problems. This is no reflection on them, as there are millions of men who have no intelligent grasp of political issues, although it has long been their duty as well as their privilege to vote.

One of the best things a woman's club can do is to study such problems as the tariff, the currency, banking and credit systems, the labor question, the duties of capital, etc., etc. Also it will do a fine thing to take up the personality and character of the leading statesmen. It can watch carefully the proceedings of Congress, its state legislature, and the municipal government.

In taking up such matters there should be care not to do it in a partisan way. On controversial matters, both sides of the proposition should be presented. If woman's clubs all over the country would feature such questions for the next five years, they would create a great body of woman voters who would look at public questions in an intelligent and well informed way, and who would be a tremendous force for good government.

SLIPPING THROUGH

A college student was saying the other day that he felt that a good many students are positively hampered by their experiences in the higher institutions of learning. If his point is well taken, it would apply also to many students in all grades of schools.

He noted that when young people first enter college, they are warned by the faculty that they must work hard or they will not pass. They are sometimes told that they must study as much as two hours a day on each lesson. At first they feel fearful of failing, and they do study hard. But by and by they find that they can slip through with much less work. They get into lax habits, go into their classes poorly prepared, and yet often succeed in "getting by." They acquire from this experience the idea that they can go through life on an easy going basis and dodge many of its requirements. Conditions in high schools are often about the same.

While such folks were in school or college, they could usually pass if they got 60 to 70 per cent markings. But when they take a job in an office or factory and only get 60 to 70 per cent of their work right, they last only a very short time. They are thrown out to make place for those who have more persistence and ambition. Young people of that type become tail-enders for their whole life. They are the first to be laid off when dull times come, and doors of promotion do not open to them.

Their difficulties date back to those school days when they got the idea into their heads that they could slip past the tests of life without doing thorough work.

The existence of this large class of people opens a door of opportunity to those who are thorough and faithful.

The employer quickly finds those who are trying to slip through as easily as possible. He also knows those who are determined to do a high grade of work, and these are the ones that get the promotions and the chances to take responsibility and earn high pay.

LIVES LOST FOR FUEL

A mine disaster like that at Birmingham, Ala., attracts universal attention, but is really a small item in reckoning the total loss of human life that seems inseparable from the coal industry. Big losses are spectacular, but the little losses are far greater in volume. They go on pretty steadily, week by week and month by month, amounting to 2,000 or 2,500 a year. And the death of a miner means just as much to his family when he dies alone, killed by a premature or delayed blast or by falling down a shaft, as when he dies with half a hundred "buddies" from a big gas explosion.

It is found that besides the ordinary cost of digging coal, one human life goes to the production of every 200,000 tons, not to mention minor injuries that are accepted as a part of the day's work.

This inevitable sacrifice of life and limb is something that will be taken into account more fully some day than it is now, in the mining industry and every other industry involving special danger or strain.

Christmas Oranges

Redlands Facts

County Horticultural Commissioner Coy has issued a timely warning to orange growers of the county that they do not pick any immature fruit. There is always a desire to get off as much "Christmas fruit" as possible, not only because it does away with any loss from frost, in the event of a cold snap, but also because it brings in some ready money early in the season. There are well defined federal rules bearing upon the subject, to the effect that the fruit shall test eight to one in sugar, or that it be 70 per cent fully colored. The grower who has fruit which can meet either or both of these tests has nothing to fear, and there is plenty of such well matured fruit this year. Nevertheless the warning is a timely one and shows that the horticultural commissioner is on the job.

Legislative Representation

San Bernardino Sun

One of these days Congress will re-apportion Congressional representation, telling California along with other states—how many members we may have in the House of Representatives, and then the solons at Sacramento will be called upon to readjust districts within the state. Doubtless at the same time they will rearrange the matter of representation in the Legislature, which is now and has been such a sore spot to Los Angeles in general and the Times in particular, because on the basis of population, that county will be entitled to a larger representation at Sacramento than it now has, while northern districts will be proportionately reduced. There can only be 40 State Senators and 80 Assemblymen under the constitution.

It is true the California constitution provides that the legislative apportionment must be on the basis of population, but we call the attention of the State to what is just now going on in Illinois. For the people of that State are in the process of considering and adopting a new constitution, and on this very vital subject the Chicago Tribune says:

Under the proposed constitution there would be 153 representative districts, each electing a member of the House of Representatives, and 57 Senatorial districts, each electing a Senator. Chicago, with about half of the population of the State, is limited to 19 seats in the Senate, to one-third of the membership.

Nor does the Tribune protest beyond that statement, although in a leading editorial to the extent of a column it is discussing the new fundamental law proposed for the State. It Chicago has half the population of the State, it would be entitled to 28 seats in the Senate. But it gets only 19, and the Tribune evidently considers that it would be unwise for Chicago to dominate both houses of the Legislature.

There are numerous other instances in the United States where the same theory is invoked, notably in New York and in Minnesota. It ought to be invoked in California, and the Sun believes it ought to be invoked before another apportionment is made. For if or when it is made on the present basis, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda counties will absolutely control both houses of the Legislature, and in the census of 1930 it is likely that Los Angeles and San Francisco alone can do it. The selfishness of legislative delegations that have the power to control is proverbial. California ought not to risk it.

In taking up such matters there should be care not to do it in a partisan way. On controversial matters, both sides of the proposition should be presented. If woman's clubs all over the country would feature such questions for the next five years, they

Worth While Verse

Wherever the souls of a wind and cloud

Dip to the sea's delight,

Rain is born in the silver dusk,

Out of the womb of night.

Whenever the hearts of a man and maid

Each to the other move,

Tears are born in the afterglow,

Out of the womb of love.

But most of the beauties that earth allows

Thrive by the grace of rain;

And maybe the heart that would rather sing,

Profits the more by pain.

RUNNING TRUE TO FORM

A certain egotistic dead beat in an old-time theatrical company was famous for his ability to sidestep gracefully any embarrassing situations.

One day another member of his company got the dead beat's mail. In it was a bill from a tailor. Not only a bill but a peremptory adjuration to settle pronto. The letter was opened, in a spirit of mischief, and its contents noted. Then the opener of the letter bet still another member of the troupe that when he gave the re-sealed missive to the addressee there would be some way for the latter to pretend the letter was not a dun.

When the letter was handed to the dead beat, he glanced through it hurriedly, thrust it hastily into the breastpocket of his shiny Prince Albert and sighed, heavily:

"Poo-oo-oor Little girrrr!"

AN HONORABLE DEGREE

Said the friend of the proud father of a college graduate who had just been awarded an A. M. degree:

"What's the matter, Bill? You are only eating crackers and milk. Are you on a diet?"

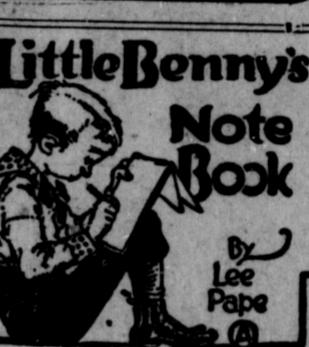

"No, on commission!" —The Harrisonian.

TIME

There is 24 hours in every day, even the days that seem like less and inclosing the ones that seem like more, and if you know how to tell time all you have to do is to look at a clock and find out which one of the 24 is it. If it is 10 o'clock then, only it may not do you any special good to find out, on account of most people just looking at the time to practice telling it and satisfy their curiosity.

Some clocks are more bewitching than others, depending on how much there is to them besides their faces. Some big clocks have little bits of faces and it don't do you any harm to look at them even if they are stopped, because at least you are sure to see the decorations, while some little clocks have nothing at all to do with their faces, such as alarm clocks. Nobody wants to look at alarm clocks when it's not going and most people even go to sleep them.

But the most important thing about a clock is whether it's right or not, because if a clock is slow or fast it only tells you what time it would be if it was earlier or later, which it's not, and if a clock isn't going it only tells you what time it was when it stopped.

Watches are a grate invention because they prevent people from having to carry around clocks. All you have to do to find out what time
